Increase in Wheat Production Gives sisted that the bonds should go to the high-Rise to the Bellef that the Business Could Easily Be Established Here.

"What Omaha needs most to make it a great grain market is a milling-in-transit rate," remarked Harry Miller, one of the local grain men. "The milling-in-transit rate will permit grain passing through here to be unloaded and placed in the elevators and then shipped on to the scaboard at the same rate as is given a consignment sent to Chicago, New York or New Orleans. Until we secure this we can't hope to build up a great market here.

"The milling-in-transit rate is given to Minneapolis and Kansas City and as a reault both have been built up into good markets. At these places wheat may be taken from the original cars in which it is started and stored in the warehouses and old fire and police board salary for the actuar elevators and if not sold it can be shipped on at the original rate, which is pro rated according to the distance which it came and

"The elevator capacity of Omaha is cred somewhat peculiar. According to this greater than many have supposed. Freight Rates Are Low. "The railroads have treated the state fair in the way of shipping grain and all of the howl about exorbitant rates is bosh and without any foundation. Kansas today is the only state that has a better grain rate and for this reason the farmers have no cause for complaint over the way they have been treated by the Nebraska railroads. It is not generally known, but last year when prices on grain were forced up, rates in Nebraska were put down, thus allowing the farmers to reap the benefits.

"Nebraska is rapidly becoming one of the only great grain producing states of the union the city a provision of the manand farmers are getting back to wheat, at ner of the same time doing more in the way of service of the board in accordance with raising a variety of crops. "During the last ten years farmers have planted nearly all of their land in corn, but now they begin to feel the folly of raising only one kind of grain, and as a result, with to favorable season, we will raise more wheat next year than at any time since the early days of the state, when every farmer put all of his land into wheat.

"If Omaha can secure the rate so that wheat in transit can be unloaded and stored here, natural conditions will do the rest to make this a market for wheat. speculation will come where the grain is to be found. Buyers want to see the actual grain before they buy. At this time all of the big firms have their buyers in the small towns. ROW ABOUT THE BOND SALE. Courts May Be Invoked to Uphold the Mayor's Veto.

Although the city council at its last ses sion decided to permit the Board of Education to purchase $18,000 intersection bonds that the city has on market, it is possible that the city has on the market, it is possible that the law may be called in to prevent the transaction. Certain city officials have been given information that legal proceedings will be commenced to prevent the sale, on the grounds that the highest bid has not

The bonds are the remainder of a batch that were voted a year ago, but they were not issued until last April, as they were not needed. They have been held until recently in order to save the interest, but a short time ago they were placed on the marke and bids were called for. Three bidders responded. Spitzer & Co. offered a premium of $378, White & Co. a premium of $360 and the Board of Education a premium of $300. spirited fight for the bonds resulted. All three of the bidders want them, as they are long time bonds, running for twenty years, and are payable out of the general fund. They are much more desirable than the special improvement bonds the city has continually on the market. The council finally decided to let the Board of Education have the bonds on the lowest bid, because the educational body is extremely desirous of investing in long time bonds the funds i a sinking fund which contains $20,000 and sioners regarding a scarcity of grain cars at many Kansas points. It is impossible, the complaints say, to get cars enough for the proper handling of grain. A complaint filed from five grain firms at Claffin. Kan., says 30,000 bushels of wheat are waiting to be moved at that point, 7,000 bushels of which are lying on the ground. Farmers generally have been holding their grain for higher prices and this unexpected movement has caused a shortage of cars.

Tigers Shut Out Virginians. PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 2.-The Princeon Tigers defeated the foot ball team from University of Virginia this afternoon by a score of 12 to 0. The game was the first to be played on Brokaw field and was witnessed by 1,000 spectators. Virginia did not threaten the Tigers' goal once during the twenty-minute halves, but the southerners held the Princetonians several times for downs. There was much fumbling on he part of both teams and the Tigers played carelessly, throwing away by loose work what they had gained by hard work.

Ball Club Settles with Labor Union. CLEVELAND O., Nov. 2.-The boycott declared against the Cleveland Base Ball declared against the Cleveland Base Bail company by the Central Labor union is off and President Robinson has affixed his signature to an agreement presented to him by the organization. It is said that the action is entirely satisfactory to the labor leaders. The boycott was declared because the base bail company let a contract to partially rebuild the grandstand at the local grounds in which nonunion labor was employed. The move affected the attendance to a more or less extent.
